In the first fiscal quarter, the Airport Terminal Fund had better financial results than in FY2017, but, fell slightly short of plan. The shortfall compared to plan was due to passenger facility charges being planned for but not received in the 1st quarter. Aside from passenger facility charges, financial performance was better than planned levels.

As with other Municipal enterprise funds, the good financial performance and financial position of the Airport Terminal Fund can be misleading when considering the amount of capital needed to fund essential renovations and repairs of the facility. The airport terminal was constructed in 1969, extensively renovated in 1989, and expanded in 2004. The original cost of construction and renovations was $2.7 million and the facilities are close to being fully depreciated for accounting purposes. The fund has total working capital of $931K, meaning that it has not accumulated the cash necessary to pay for the costs of any additional renovations without taking on debt.
